

10 NEW DELIS WITH A DIFFERENCE

Lenny's Fine Foods

The blintzes, chicken soup and gefilte fish are still there. But the revamped Lenny's – a Caulfield North institution for more than 20 years – packs in much more than your average Jewish deli. There's even a vegan version of its famous chicken soup. Come for ready-to-heat dinners such as green curry or lamb shank and barley soup, or a takeaway bagel with beef brisket, made by co-owner Mark Fine. There's backlit signage to steer you towards smoked and cured fish (including 12 kinds of herring), treats like Basque cheesecake, golden schnitzels and wedge salad.
